

Cupid

14 August 2007
17:27

This video could hold some interesting ways to handle Cupid's cloud tail off:
http://michaelcawood.com/videos/Kameo\_Evolve\_Cloud\_Monster.mov

Sketches by Ryan Hagen
08/02/2009, 19:53

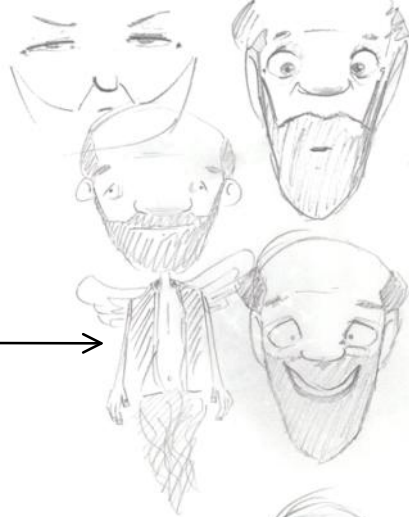

There's a few 'skinny' cupids here, that could be worth exploring, although I had always been him as the slouch of the three.

I like how this guy feels like Joe Bloggs but just happens to be an Angel.

I like the attitude of this guy, I'm just not so keen on the eye spacing.

One thing I did plan for was a white beard, so that it might even glow a little. It's effectively his halo, so that he doesn't have to actually have the halo... I just never liked any of the designs I did with a Halo and I liked the idea he'd hang it up at the beginning, as though he's on a break from the 'pretence' of being Cupid (with the costume) and now he's doing the real work. Similarly I dropped the wings as they broke up his silhouette without giving him any extra acting tools. The trick is to figure out what clothes make you think of Cupid (I tried the nappy but it wasn't working with the ghost effect drop off).

Mike